What is def?

def is a program for creating definition lists in Markdown. The format used does not work in all Markdown editors! It works in Joplin after enabling it in the settings; this program was designed with Joplin in mind. In the context of Joplin, it will generate Markdown that will render as a word (or series of words) that is/are bold and underlined, followed by its/their definition.

Example Usage

Commonly while taking notes for my classes in college, I will have to define a term, in which case I enter into my terminal def apex cuboid and in return I would get something like the following copied to my clipboard:

Apex Cuboid

The top data cube - all data (no dimensions)
